

Mundi Jupyter Notebook

Mundi Jupyter Notebook is an interactive tool to manipulate and store data on Mundi. Jupyter Notebook has support for over 40 programming languages, Mundi offers the 2 following kernel languages: Python and R.

This platform helps you to easily discover Mundi's services and enables an efficient access to data.

The Mundi Jupyter Notebook has pre-installed tools to enhance your user experience. Examples are available in a shared environment. Possibility to install complementary tools by yourself.

This software is released under the liberal terms of the modified BSD license. Mundi offers dedicated Jupyter Notebook instances, ranging from 2 to 8 cpu, from 2 to 32 GB ram and elastic storage, fitted to your needs.

User Support Services

Everyday Atos' 110,000 people in 73 countries are developing and implementing innovative digital solutions that support the business transformation of clients and address the environmental and social challenges we all face.

Atos can provide IT/IS support all over the world for platform training, algorithm implementation support, and EO products exploitation support. Communication language is usually English, but support can also be offered in German and French.

Please see <https://mundiwebservices.com/offer> or <https://atos.net/en/>. The pricing is based on hours of dedicated support. Volume discount or monthly subscriptions shall be offered for large volumes.

For algorithm optimisation for cloud environment

We are business technologist! Through our unrivalled experience in IT technology applied to Earth Observation domain, we can help you to improve your EO algorithms implementation on the cloud.

We provide application build support, expertise for move to cloud, cloud implementation and operations, or cloud costs optimisation, in both time & material and firm fixed.

For business model definition and implementation

Improve the time to market of your business! Helping you, to better targeting of your clients and increase of your value proposal, we provide support on business and consulting streams.

You benefit in a close relationship of our consultancy in strategy, marketing, communication and commercial teams. Together, we establish the strategic analysis of your company/service, the most accurate marketing and communication solutions in your context, an efficient business model, the adapted strategy for go to market , the outreach campaigns and partners linking for your business, using state of the art tools (design thinking approach, agile methodology, canvas business model, digital marketing, UX design). Please see <https://mundiwebservices.com/offer> or <https://atos.net/en/>.